The Lady Wouldn't Die—Despite six claims by the Japanese that the veteran aircraft carrier Enterprise had been sunk, the gallant ship, first and only carrier to receive the Presidential Unit Citation, still roams Pacific waters. A furious attack on the carrier was carried out by Jap kamikaze planes off Okinawa (above) on April 11, 1945, during landing operations. A Hellcat burns fiercely on the flight deck after being ignited from a near-miss Jap suicide plane that exploded near by.

8th Army to Hold Tokyo

MANILA, Aug. 27 (AP)—Designating the Eighth Army of Lt. Gen. Robert L. Eichelberger to occupy the Tokyo area, Gen. MacArthur today announced there will be additional landings at Yokohama, Tokyo's port, and at Tateyama, outside Tokyo bay on the east side of its entrance.

Eichelberger, MacArthur said, will accompany the supreme Allied commander "when he arrives Aug. 30" in Japan. The Eighth Army landings will begin Sept. 1.

Strong American and British naval forces already are peacefully anchored in Sagami bay, within 30 miles of Tokyo.

The only previously-announced plans for landings in the Tokyo bay area were at Atsugi Airfield, where MacArthur will alight with airborne troops Thursday, and at the Yokosuka naval base between Yokohama and Tokyo bay.

The newly-announced landings will follow them by two days.

The notice of landings to come at Yokohama shows MacArthur's determination to gain early control of important Tokyo bay port facilities, while Tateyama is a strategic spot 10 miles from the bottleneck Wraga strait entrance to the bay. Yokohama is approximately 15 miles from Atsugi, and 10 from Yokosuka.

The fleet's thrust into Sagami bay proved as quiet as a routine peacetime maneuver at home. The final act of surrender will be signed aboard the battleship Missouri in Tokyo bay Sunday (Japanese time).

Rapid evacuating of thousands of American and Allied prisoners of war will begin "almost simultaneously" with entry of MacArthur's forces.

The American Red Cross reported 5000 messages from relatives in the United States were received today by special transport, addressed to prisoners of war soon to be released and brought to the Manila area.

Most of the communications include pictures of wives, mothers and children, and will be distributed promptly. They will be the first direct word from home in months to the prisoners.

MacArthur and his advance echelon probably will leave Manila by plane for Okinawa tonight. Accompanying MacArthur when he leaves Manila will be more than 100 correspondents, besides the advance echelon, which includes staff officers and aides.

At Okinawa, grease-monkeys turned the motors of a great air fleet of more than 350 transports and bombers in readiness for the airborne occupation.

Early tomorrow the first plane-loads of technicians and equipment will take off for Atsugi Airfield to set the stage for one of the world's largest—and certainly longest—mass aerial movements on Thursday.

Ahead of them lie 1980 statute miles of flight, to Tokyo and return.

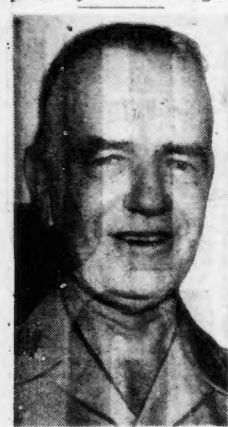

Tomorrow's advance detachment has a multitude of tasks ahead. Some technicians will check Atsugi's 5600-foot main runway and the two alternate strips, 5100 and 4150 feet long. Others will set up communications in Atsugi's control tower, between the field and the pilots whose planes will shuttle steadily for a week or more between Okinawa and the heart of Hirohito's empire. Still others will make ground reconnaissance patrols.

Air transport command pilots summoned for runs all over the world for this mission have been told not to make sight-seeing runs over Tokyo.

Their job of pioneering the route to Tokyo will require closest attention to weather. Already typhoons have caused a 48-hour delay in the entire operation.

The Navy assigned eight "Bird-Dog" destroyers, stationed 100 miles apart along the flight route to point the way. They will be in constant communication with the transport planes.

In the first flight there will be

Winchester Man Aboard Missouri

Capt. Harry D. Henneberger was reported by the Associated Press today as one of the first Navy officers to meet the surrendering Japs today aboard the USS Missouri in Sagami Bay. He lives in Myrtle ter., Winchester, and is the son of a Boston newspaperman.

Henneberger is commander of a destroyer flotilla and went aboard the Missouri for the historic surrender.

He was graduated from Annapolis in 1925 and served as gunnery officer aboard the USS Quincy in the action which saw the Japs sink that famed cruiser and the Astoria and Vincennes in 1942 off Guadalcanal.

He is the husband of the former Bernice Walling of California and has a son, Harry, Jr., 13. His father is Andrew E. Henneberger, a copy editor on the Boston Traveler.

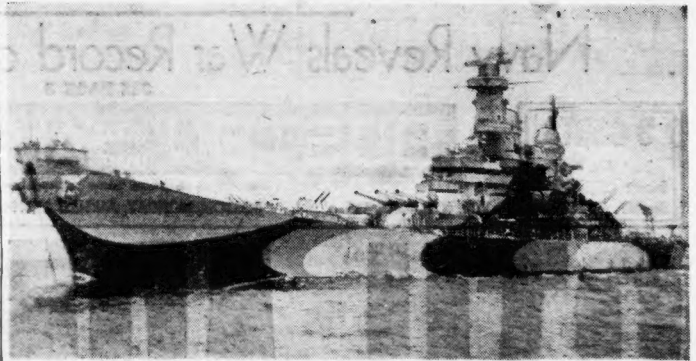

Gen. Yamashita Ready to Quit

By RUSSELL BRINES

MANILA, Aug. 27 (AP)—Gen. Tomoyuki Yamashita, "The Tiger," commander of Japanese forces in Philippines, opened surrender negotiations with the U. S. Army today from his mountain hideout in northern Luzon.

In a letter delivered to an Army outpost near Kiangnan, Yamashita said he had received instructions from Tokyo to surrender and that he had ordered his surviving troops to stop fighting.

The famed tiger said he believed negotiations could be entered into immediately, although he was still awaiting further instructions from Tokyo.

Hail Russia-China Treaty

CHUNGKING, Aug. 27 (AP)—Russia and China were bound today in a 30-year friendship treaty which is designed to block for that period any possible Japanese aggression in Asia and which apparently paves the way for a peaceful settlement of Chungking-Chinese Communist differences.

The pact, terms of which were announced simultaneously by the Chinese and Russian governments, provides that Russia will give military supplies and moral support to Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalist government; to the exclusion of the Northern China Communist regime, and calls for mutual aid in the event of any Japanese attack.

The treaty also assured the return of Manchuria to the Chinese, with Russia promising to complete withdrawal of her occupation troops—which wrested that country from the Japanese—within three months.

The agreement was signed in Moscow Aug. 14 after negotiations conducted by Chinese Prime Minister T. V. Song and Soviet Foreign Affairs Commissar V. M. Molotov. Premier Stalin witnessed the signing.

Sun Fo, president of China's legislative Yuan, termed the pact an "epoch-making accomplishment" which, he said, would guarantee peace in Asia for 30 years. The treaty ends a long political strain between the two great Asiatic powers, brought about by the activities of Chinese Communists, who frequently have been at odds with the central government in Chungking.

The agreement provides for its renewal automatically for "an unlimited period" unless within one year before the expiration date one of the signatories notifies the other that it desires to end the pact.

Tokyo Admits A-Bomb Did It

By the Associated Press

The destructiveness of America's atomic bomb, coupled with Emperor Hirohito's "love of the people," was the real reason for Japan's surrender, Premier Prince Higashikuni told the Japanese cabinet and members of the House of Representatives today, according to a Domei news agency dispatch.

One purpose of the forthcoming extraordinary session of the Imperial Diet, the Premier declared, is "to clarify frankly" the reasons for capitulation.

Japan's radio broadcasts had announced postponement of the diet session to coincide with surrender delays, and reported a continuing series of other home front and foreign office changes to adapt the nation to its new role—defeat.

The two-day extraordinary session will begin Sept. 4 instead of Sept. 2, Domei News Agency said. Also announced was abolition of Japan's Greater East Asia Ministry, wartime consolidator of Asiatic conquest. The ministry will be incorporated in the foreign ministry.

Other surrender preparations disclosed by Tokyo radio broadcasts included:

A central liaison office, to deal with Allied occupation authorities, is now ready to function, with Katsuo Okazaki as director-general and Katsuhiko Narita, Ryuzi Takeuchi, Saburo Ota and Eiji Wajima as directors.

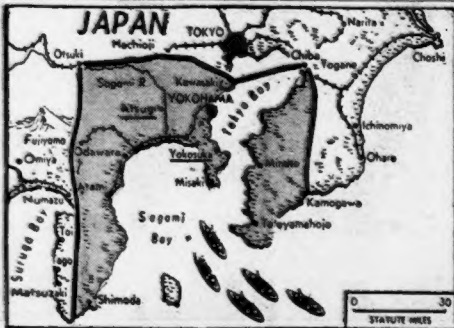

The office is intended to handle all occupation problems from general affairs to reparations and release of prisoners.

The Japanese government today requested Gen. MacArthur's permission to resume suspended ferry service between Japan and Korea, to return Koreans and Japanese to their respective homes.

Japan also notified MacArthur that not all her unarmed planes used in connection with surrender activities can be white-painted. Some army planes will carry only the prescribed green crosses and trail red streamers, the message said.

Hidezo Toyama, son of the late Mitsuru Toyama, Nationalist leader, sounded a home front keynote in another broadcast when he urged Japanese to remold themselves and build the country on a new basis.

FLEET ARRIVES IN JAPAN—The U. S. Third Fleet, operating under Adm. William F. Halsey, is anchored in Sagami Bay, south of Tokyo, and Jap emissaries have been taken aboard the USS Missouri to receive instructions about landing of U. S. military personnel.

Soviet Captures More Jap Islands

LONDON, Aug. 27 (AP)—The red flag of Soviet Russia waved over three more islands in the Kuriles west of the Aleutians today as Generalissimo Stalin's forces speeded their occupation of Japanese territory and the disarming of enemy troops.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 27 (AP)—The U. S. Eighth Army, veterans of the Philippines campaign, will be the first American occupation force into the Toyo area, Merrill Mueller, NBC war correspondent, said today in a broadcast reporting an announcement of Gen. MacArthur in Manila. Mueller reported the Eighth would enter both the Tokyo and Yokohama areas on Sept. 1.

Saga of 'Galloping Ghost' Carrier Enterprise Told

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27 (AP)—Damaged 15 times in four years of war and "sunk" six times in Jap propaganda, the aircraft carrier Enterprise still is "the fightingest carrier of the fleet."

The Navy said so today in detailing experiences of the "Big E"—only surviving U. S. carrier in the South Pacific in 1942. In those dark days the Enterprise "held the line" despite scars from grievous wounds she suffered in the battles of the eastern Solomons and Santa Cruz.

Her latest and most serious brush with disaster came on May 14, when a bomb-laden Jap suicide plane crashed into the flight deck. The explosion blasted the forward elevator more than 400 feet into the air, killed 14 and injured 34 men. The flight deck buckled.

Aboard the Enterprise at the time was V. Adm. Marc A. Mitscher, commanding the legendary task force 58. Less than a week earlier, Mitscher had been forced to transfer his flag from the Carrier Bunker Hill when she suffered serious damage from a kamikaze attack. From the Enterprise, he moved again to the Randolph.

The attack occurred as the Enterprise was helping protect troops on the beach at Okinawa from Jap air attack. Twice before, during the two months she spent on that mission, the carrier had been forced to withdraw briefly for temporary repairs at a nearby base. The May 14 attack put her out of action.

In her four years of war the Enterprise's planes and guns shot down 911 Japanese aircraft. Her pilots sank 71 enemy ships and damaged or probably sank another 192. While covering 275,000 miles she accumulated 18 of 22 possible combat stars for carriers in the Pacific.

On Dec. 7, 1941, and for several months thereafter she was the flagship of Adm. Halsey, then vice admiral, who dubbed her "The Galloping Ghost of the Oahu Coast." Halsey took her on defiant forays into Wake Marshall, against Wake and Marcus, and finally as escort for the Hornet carrying Lt. Gen. Jimmy Doolittle's Tokyo raiders.

Late in November, 1941, the Enterprise had ferried marine fighter planes to Wake island on Dec. 7 she was en route back to Pearl Harbor. That morning her planes took off for a routine flight into airfields near Pearl Harbor—and had into the middle of the Jap attack.

On March 18, 1945, as Task Force was attacking Kyushu, the "Big E" suffered her first direct hit from constant Jap air attacks. A dive bomber dropped a bomb on the forward elevator, but it failed to explode.

Two days later, four suicide pilots singled her out for destruction. All were shot down, but three jarred the ship badly with near misses. During the action an AA shell from a heavy ship exploded over her decks, spreading shell fragments and causing serious fires.

On April 11, she took another damaging hit. Four suicide planes attacked the flat top. One scored a near hit and left her engine imbedded in the port side. Three others crashed so close they were classified as "near misses."

Again she was forced to retire to undergo repairs, but she was back fighting in three weeks.

Then as flagship of Task Force 58, she steamed to within 60 miles of Kyushu on May 12 to join in the systematic pounding of enemy suicide plane bases.

On the morning of the 14th, the enemy counterattacked in force.

A Hellcat fighter from the Enterprise reported knocking down an enemy plane nearby. Three more attackers were splashed, and weary gunners and lookouts breathed more easily until a single enemy plane was spotted maneuvering in cloud cover over the ship.

"Eviding the task force fighters and fishtailing through the curtain of flak," the Navy account related, "the kamikaze screamed down on the 'Big E.' When it appeared certain he would overshoot his mark, the Jap pilot flipped his plane on its back and plunged into the forward part of the flight deck. His bomb exploded under the forward elevator, sending it into the air. Reports on how high it went vary from 400 feet, proven by photograph, to 1500 feet, claimed by pilots flying at that altitude.

"Fires immediately roared through the forward part of the ship.

"Gun crews jettisoned ammunition until heat drove them from their posts. Then they broke out fire hose and kept the explosions at a minimum. Within 17 minutes after the ship was hit the fires were under control. Within 30 minutes they were completely extinguished—and the crew returned to the job of driving off more attacking planes."

Shortly thereafter the Enterprise sailed for the States, streaming a 578-foot homeward-bound pennant, one foot for every day at sea.

France's War Cost 9 Billion

PARIS, Aug. 27 (AP)—World War II cost France $97,940,000,000 or 45 per cent of her national wealth, Minister of Justice Pierre Teitgen said today. He estimated the war brought about destruction of 1,785,000 houses, 5000 bridges, half of France's railway stations, 300,000 of the 500,000 railway cars, "almost all" the trucks, half of the livestock and three-quarters of her agricultural machinery.

Sister's Mentolity Causes 3 Suicides

BLACKSTONE, Aug. 27—Twenty-five cents' worth of gas from a coin meter ended the lives of two sisters and a brother who left notes saying they were depressed over the mental illness of one of them, Medical Examiner Edward Balmer reported today.

Irene Creighton, 48, Elizabeth, 45, and Joseph, 40, were found in the kitchen of their Mendon at home by Police Chief John C. Ryan. He said they were lying side by side, their heads resting on pillows, less than two feet from a gas range with all the jets turned on.

Ryan, who investigated when neighbors reported not having seen the Creightons for several days, said gas service in the neighborhood was supplied through coin meters which shut off when 25 cents' worth had flowed through.

The medical examiner said notes found on the kitchen table expressed fear that "Elizabeth might have to go back" to the State Mental Hospital at Grafton where, until a week ago, she had been a patient since last April. Another note left instructions for disposal of the bodies.

The three were pronounced dead by Dr. James McGoey, who was summoned to the house after the bodies were found.

Later Dr. Balmer, who withheld an official verdict on the cause of death, said the trio had been dead since last Tuesday. Newspapers since that day remained on the Creightons' front porch.

Chief Ryan said the Creightons had lived in Blackstone for many years. Elizabeth formerly was employed in a textile mill. Joseph was a machinist in Woonsocket, R. I., and the other sister, a housewife. A brother, Thomas, of Springfield, is the only known relative.

Belsen's Head and 46 Face Murder Trial

BAD OEYNHAUSEN, Germany, Aug. 27 (AP)—An official charge of conspiracy to commit mass murder was lodged jointly today against Commandant Josef Kramer of the notorious Belsen concentration camp and 46 guards, including 19 women.

Origin of the Dorchester blaze, which tied up traffic for some time in the busy section, was not determined immediately. The fire spread rapidly through the plant of the Freeman Furniture Storage Co., Davenport.

The Charleston blaze started in a one-story trucking supply house in Austin st. owned by William H. Breen of Monument sq. Breen's son, Arthur, 13, was overcome attempting to extinguish the flames.

He was held for treatment for smoke inhalation at Massachusetts General Hospital. Damage from the blaze was estimated at $75.

Reconversion Plans Speeded

By STERLING F. GREEN

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27 (AP)—The problem of millions of jobless workers stirred legislators and businessmen to action today.

ATLANTA'S BEST—Disqualified as "Miss Atlanta of 1945" after winning the title because she was discovered to be married, Peggy Hardie Payne, Atlanta, Ga., housewife, entered the "Mrs. Atlanta" contest and carried off top honors.

An influential business group urged the government immediately to help pay the fare of stranded war workers to new jobs.

This body, the research committee of the nationwide CED—Committee for Economic Development—also recommended that most states increase their payments to the unemployed.

Early-bird legislators tackled the same issue. Chairman Doughton (D.) of North Carolina brought the House ways and means committee back to Capitol Hill today to tackle the Administration's plans for broader benefits to the jobless.

But the big government push toward the ways of peace made this news:

1—The Office of War Information wants to go out of business within 90 days.

2—The public will begin to see electric toasters, washers, refrigerators and ranges this fall, with vacuum cleaners "fairly plentiful" by Christmas.

3—Sellers of these new goods headed into a full-scale rumput with OPA. They say OPA's policy on retail price ceilings—the same as in 1942 or very little higher—is too low.

Good news rolled in from the production front.

CLOTHING: Plenty of women's and children's dresses, slips, blouses, nightgowns, panties and pajamas by November. Good, but not rosy, prospects for men's suits. (Returning servicemen will drain supplies for a while.)

HOUSEHOLD GOODS: Electrical appliances—washing machines, toasters, ranges, waffle irons and the like—will begin to appear this fall.

If business expands boldly and the government acts quickly—said the CED report—"large scale unemployment is not inevitable, (it) can be prevented."

The question of pricing the new—but long-scarce—durable goods, like washing machines, pumped up one of the bitterest government-business battles in a long time.

Price: Administrator Chester Bowles ruled last week that prices to the consumer will be held to the level of 1942 or near it. But he already had ruled that the manufacturers could have increases to compensate them for increases in costs of labor and materials.

This puts the wholesaler and retailer in a squeeze. The cost to them is higher and, between them, they must absorb the difference, rather than pass it on to the consumer.

These other developments made week-end reconversion news:

SHOES: An end of rationing Oct. 1 was recommended by the National Shoe Retailers Ass'n.

DRY CLEANING: Laundries and dry cleaners will do a better job after Aug. 31. WPB said they could have all they needed of carbon tetrachloride and chemicals.

SPORTING GOODS: Baseballs, softballs, mitts, footballs and boxing gloves will be scarce for months. The Army—with more time for athletics, will take most of them.

CHRISTMAS MAIL: Gifts to overseas servicemen must go between Sept. 15 and Oct. 15.

CITY TRANSIT: ODT controls on local bus and streetcar operation end Aug. 31, along with staggered working hours. Bus routes which were eliminated may be restored.

REVERE HUNTS VANDALS

Revere police today sought vandals who broke into the home of Miss Josephine Mulligan in Lincoln st., ripped wall fixtures, broke furniture and strewed clothing throughout the house.

300 N.E. Men Among 5000 Landing Here

Over 5000 happy veterans of the European war, diverted at sea while en route to the Pacific, debarked at Commonwealth Pier today, headed for Camp Myles Standish and furloughs of at least 30 days before being screened for occupation duty.

Approximately 300 of those aboard the two vessels, the Army transport Henry Gibbons and the Navy transport USS Gen. Scott, were New Englanders, but since the ships were diverted at sea, no passenger rosters were available.

Forty-one more New Englanders landed at the Army Base among 760 veterans who returned aboard the SS William Few and later in the day two more transports, the SS Mayo Brothers, with 746 troops, including 66 New Englanders, and the SS Gauntlet, with 17 casualties, were scheduled to dock.

The Gibbons still was in Marseilles when news of the Jap surrender came and both the troops aboard and the French population put on the wildest celebration Cpl. Thomas A. Mulligan, Jr., of Huntington ave., Hyde Park, had ever seen.

"It was wider than the liberation of Paris, and that was a beaut," he said with a grin.

PFC Royden Barrett of Walpole returned from seven months' overseas service and figured he would be ticketed for occupation.

"But that's okay," he said. "At least now I'll get a chance to be with my wife and two children for at least 30 days, instead of being sent direct to the Pacific."

Most of the troops were restless about the delay in processing through Camp Myles Standish, but not T-5 Charles H. Robertson of Wakeboro, Me.

"My wife, Mildred, is a WAC and she's stationed at Myles Standish," he confided. "So I don't care how long they keep me there."

Twin brothers who spent 16 months overseas together also debarked from the Gibbons. They were T-4 Edward L. and Cpl. Herbert E. Housman, both of Dolphin ave., Winthrop.

Also debarking was pl. Ernest J. Lerro of Saratoga st., East Boston, who managed to smuggle ashore a terrier puppy, Meatball, which he had adapted in Belgium a few months ago.

The Gibbons carried 2038 returning veterans, while 3076 more were aboard the Scott. Also arriving on the Scott were 140 nurses, attached to three evacuation hospitals, and eight Red Cross workers.

The Gibbons and Scott were the sixth and seventh transports diverted to the Port of Boston from Pacific destinations after the Jap surrender.

Lawrence Man On Lost Sub Reported PW

The 50-man crew of the submarine Perch, reported missing and presumed to be dead more than three years ago, all may have survived enemy action, it was indicated today with news that the vessel's radioman, Joseph Normand of Easton st., Lawrence, is alive and well.

News that the Perch had been lost in the Java Sea was disclosed by the Navy Department, April 11, 1942, and later members of crew officially were declared dead.

But today Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Normand of Lawrence received a Navy Department telegram from Washington that their son had been prisoner of the Japs and was saved. No further details were given.

The Perch, commissioned at Groton, Ct., in 1936, was at Pearl Harbor at the time of the Jap sneak attack Dec. 7, 1941, and went immediately into Pacific action.

Date of the Navy's announcement of her loss was on April 11, 1943, but notice to the Normand family indicated she last was heard of on the preceding Feb. 15. At that time she was operating off Java.

Officials at the First Naval District said the "missing and officially dead" status of the crew still was shown on the records here but that news of the fate of the submarine might be expected momentarily from Washington.

Normand, 28, was a graduate of St. Anne's School and of Lawrence High School, 1938, where he was a football star. He was an employee of the Shawheen Mill, Andover, when he joined the Navy in 1940. He trained at Newport, R. I.

Four in Hospital After Malden Crash

Four women, injured in the collision of two autos at Malden st. and Highland ave., Malden, were under treatment today at the Malden Hospital.

They are Mrs. Mary Moorhead, 54, of Vernon st., Malden, with head and back injuries; her daughter Mary, broken right arm; Amanda Gray, 25, of Brentwood rd., Wilmington, contusions, and Doris Ann Kelly, 25, of Highland ave., Malden, contusions and abrasions.

HER HUSBY FIRST TO LAND IN JAPAN—The landing of Lt. Col. Clay Tice, of Los Angeles, as Japanese soil is hailed by his wife, Elsie, who holds a photo of the intrepid flier whose plane developed trouble into a landing on Mitogahara airstrip on Kyushu, repaired the damage and returned to their base.

Keynes on Way To Ask U. S. Aid

LONDON, Aug. 27 (INS)—Lord Keynes, Britain's chief economic adviser, left today aboard the transport Pasteur en route to the United States to seek a transitional agreement for financial assistance as a result of the stoppage of lend-lease.

A British delegation, headed by Viscount Halifax, ambassador to Washington, was briefed over the week-end on the British attitude toward the U. S. decision.

The Earl of Halifax will fly to Washington after Prime Minister Clement R. Attlee gives his final instructions.

NOW THERE ARE FOUR—A baby son, weighing 9 pounds, has been born to Mr. and Mrs. Noah Beery, Jr., in a Los Angeles Hospital. The former screen star and new heir are in "wonderful condition" according to her doctor. The couple have a daughter, Diana, 4, shown with them as they play with "Cappo," a family pet.

Await Photo of Girl As 'Mr. Victory' Clue

Hope of uncovering a clue to the identity of "Little Mr. Victory," the tiny baby abandoned in Boston Common on Aug. 15 in the midst of the end-of-the-war revelry, was expressed by police today.

They said the father of a former Back Bay young woman, reported missing from her home in a Long Island, N. Y., town, was en route here with pictures of the missing girl which might clinch identity of the baby.

Police are convinced they know the name of the mother of the chubby, blue-eyed little boy, as a result of information given them by a young woman patient in a Boston hospital, who said she recognized the baby by his picture and his mother by newspaper descriptions.

According to this young woman, she occupied a bed in the hospital last June 2, presumably the date of the baby's birth, and in the bed next to her, she insists, was the baby's mother, a 22-year-old wife of a soldier killed in action in Germany.

The patients furnished police the name of the baby's mother, and a telephone call to her Long Island, N. Y., home disclosed she was missing from there.

Yap, Truk, Wake Set to Surrender

GUAM, Aug. 27 (AP)—Negotiations are under way for capitulation of half a dozen by-passed Jap island fortresses, including Truk, once the most formidable of the enemy's Pacific bastions, the Navy announced today.

Naval headquarters here reported Japanese commanders have agreed to surrender garrisons at Rota in the Marianas islands, Jaluit in the Marshalls; Yap, Truk and Palau in the Carolines, as soon as they receive instructions from Tokyo.

Surrender overtures likewise have been made to the Japanese on Ponape and Kusaie in the Carolines, Wake and Nauru.

8 Bay Staters To Enter Japan

Seven Massachusetts men will fly into Japan with the advance American group while an eighth will witness the surrender pact signing aboard the battleship Missouri, it was learned today.

Among those who will accompany Gen. MacArthur to Tokyo are Lt. Com. Samuel C. Bartlett of Weston rd., Wellesley, born in Kyoto to Congregational missionary parents; Col. Edward D. Dwan of McKinley ter., Lynn; Lt. Col. Joseph A. Smedlie of Maple st., Belmont; Capt. Bernard L. Rolfe of Adelia ave., Belmont; Lt. Cameron Ludwig of Lee st., Brookline; M-Sgt. Norman P. Suter of Howard st., Ludlow; and PFC Robert F. Bennett of Birch st., Lynn.

Sic Joseph R. Burke of the Missouri crew will be among those to witness the historic signing in Tokyo Bay. He is the son of Sgt. Francis M. Burke of the South Boston police station.

Lt. Com. Bartlett, former executive secretary of the regional WLB in Boston, lived in Japan until 1929, speaks Japanese and served as an interpreter at the surrender at Manila.

GI Lawyers to Have Refresher Courses

Placement service and refresher courses will be provided for Massachusetts lawyers who have been serving in the armed forces or in war work by the Massachusetts Lawyers' Postwar Institute, Inc., according to an announcement today by Lowell S. Nicholson, the institute's secretary.

The courses will open with a two-week series of lectures from Oct. 15 through Oct. 27, from 4 to 6 p. m. and from 7 to 9 p. m. each day. The lectures are designed to bring the student up to date since the beginning of the war.

FISHERMAN ARBITRATE
Boat owners and officials of the Atlantic Fishermen's Union met at the State House today with Gen. Charles H. Cole, chairman of the State Board of Arbitration and Conciliation, in an effort to settle the three-day stand-by pay dispute which has tied up nearly half of the Boston fishing fleet.

Hurricane Lashes Texas Gulf Towns, Moves North

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex., Aug. 27 (AP)—The fury of a tropical hurricane in the Gulf of Mexico moved up the Texas coast from Corpus Christi today, and this immediate area began assessing damage from heavy winds.

The New Orleans weather bureau reported in a 10 a. m. advisory that the hurricane, with winds up to 100 miles per hour, was central on the Texas coast near Port O'Connor, 60 miles northeast of Corpus Christi, where the coast begins a substantial outward curve.

Still threatening the upper Texas coast, the storm was moving north-northeast. In its possible path was the wealthy and heavily-populated Houston-Galveston area.

J. P. McLaughlin, weather bureau observer here, had reported at 7 a. m. the storm, after lashing Port Aransas, had swiped a section of the coast about 30 miles east of Corpus Christi, and that Corpus Christi was out of the hurricane area.

The New Orleans bureau said Port Lavaca, on an inland bay behind Port O'Connor, reported northeast winds of 85 miles per hour and tides of seven feet, still rising. Because of communications failure the Port Lavaca report was the only one available near the center, the bureau said.

Hurricane warnings were continued from Port Aransas to Galveston and storm warnings from Galveston to Lake Charles, La.

The bureau placed the storm center about latitude 28.3, longitude 96.6, which would make it hug the Texas coast.

Gales of 70 miles an hour were reported over an area about 100 miles wide, and winds 75 to 100 miles an hour within a radius of 40 miles of the center.

The high winds buffeted towns in the storm's path: Very high winds swept against the shore. Police Chief L. C. Smith said no deaths or accidents were reported here. Power was off. McLaughlin said winds in the business section reached 90 miles an hour and over Corpus Christi bay 100 miles an hour.

Much of the highway from Corpus Christi to Houston was under water.

Port Aransas, across the bay on the exposed tip of sandy Mustang Island, felt the terrific fury of the hurricane when the storm moved just offshore before midnight. A tide 10 feet above normal sent four feet of salt water into the streets of the famed fishing village where once President Roosevelt went to catch tarpon.

Hurricane Unlikely To Be Felt Here

Boston weather bureau official said today that present indications were that this area would feel no effects of the tropical hurricane raging toward the central coast of Texas.

Prospects were for fair weather today and tomorrow, with some high cloudiness and temperature in the middle 70's, with moderate to fresh winds expected to diminish tonight.

1300 Reach Palestine After 5-Year Delay

HAIFA, Aug. 27 (AP)—A group of 1300 Jewish refugees aboard the steamer Patria when it exploded mysteriously in Haifa harbor in 1940, finally landed here after almost five years' internment on the British island of Mauritius in the Indian ocean.

Fleeing from Nazi persecution in Central European countries, the refugees were refused permission to land in Palestine because they had no passports.

U. S. Fliers Over Nagasaki See Why Japs Quit

By CLARK LEE

ABOARD AN AMERICAN B-17 OVER JAPAN, Aug. 27 (INS)—Flying over Nagasaki, it is easy to see why the Japs quit after only two of their cities were hit by atomic bombs.

Smoke was still rising today from the fire-swept ruins of this most frightfully devastated city.

The whole of Nagasaki was affected by the atomic bomb blast with the exception of the framework of a few modern plants—a dirty brown flat patch of earth with nothing in it. There are no craters or bomb holes.

There were thousands of homes here on both banks of the winding canal, along the sides of which huge factories were located.

Now we can see only that terrible brown expanse without a sign of a home and with only the mere skeletons of factories and what appeared to be a very large hospital still standing.

A few look sound structurally but seem to have been swept by fire which also left trees and underbrush scorched.

Double-engined trains were pulling five or six scorched freight cars along the railroad tracks but the central railway station on the water-front was demolished. Numerous junks and fishing vessels could be seen partly sunk in the harbor.

Trolleys were running in the southern part of the city, which was comparatively untouched by bombs.

As nearly as could be estimated, about one-third of Nagasaki was completely devastated by the atomic bomb.

One thing does seem certain—there was apparently no radio-activity still persisting at Nagasaki. People were walking about and trains were running through the flattened area.

Committee Hears Demand to Halt Teen-Ager Draft

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27 (AP)—Two lawmakers demanded an immediate halt to teen-age inductions as the House military committee met today to decide what ought to be done about the draft law.

Rep. Kilday (D.) of Texas, a committee member, said he would ask the group to support legislation preventing further inductions of 18 and 19-year-olds and at the same time to make a quick and thorough study of the necessity of drafting anyone else. Previously, Rep. Shafer (R.) of Michigan said he favored similar action.

Both noted that Congress lowered the draft age to 18 in 1942 after Army and Navy officials had asserted it was essential to the war effort that a steady flow of youthful combat troops be provided.

"With the end of the fighting that need no longer exists," Kilday declared.

He added that the Army forces have announced it will take approximately 18 months to muster out some five to eight million men, "and at the end of that time they still will have several million under arms, even if they don't take another one in."

Committee sentiment is strong for putting an abrupt end to the draft for everyone without permitting the draft law to run its course to next May 15. Some members, however, have suggested a compromise which would halt inductions of fathers of any age and require the armed forces to discharge any man over 35 who requests release.

The Army said it will continue to ask for 50,600 new inductions a month, regardless of how peacefully the occupation of Japan proceeds.

Send U. S. Documents For Haw Haw Trial

LONDON, Aug. 27 (INS)—British legal circles said the treason trial of William Joyce (Lord Haw Haw), adjourned until Sept. 11, might be postponed further pending arrival of important evidence from Hudson County, N. J.

The evidence was believed to be documents bearing on Joyce's nationality. During his preliminary hearing, Joyce claimed he could not be guilty of treason to Britain because he was an American citizen.

Arizona 'Siamese' Twins Given Even Chance to Live

PHOENIX, Ariz., Aug. 27 (AP)—"Siamese" girl twins born here to Mrs. Rita Miranda in her Avondale home were given an even chance today by hospital authorities to survive.

The babies are in St. Monica's Hospital, where X-rays were to be taken today and complete medical examination made. The girls are joined at the lower abdomen and have a single umbilical cord. They were born Saturday night and were delivered by their maternal grandmother.

A physician was summoned and recommended immediate hospitalization. The medical rarity was announced last night by the Rev. Emmett J. McLoughlin, OFM, superintendent of the hospital, who allowed photographers to make pictures. He said the babies seemed quite healthy. The mother did not accompany the children to the hospital.

Weight of the babies was estimated at from three to four pounds each.

NUERNBERG, Germany, Aug. 27 (AP)—A crowd of nearly 40,000 GIs turned out yesterday amid a World Series atmosphere and watched the 71st Division of the Third Army beat the 29th Division of the Seventh Army, 6 to 3, to win the Southern Germany baseball title and qualify for the semi-finals of the ETO championship here tomorrow.

Ken Heinzelman, formerly of the Pittsburgh Pirates, was the star of the game. He appeared as a relief pitcher for the 71st in the eighth inning with the score tied at 3-3. He pitched hitless ball the last two innings and sparked a three-run rally in the eighth that won the game.

Germans Again Get Ersatz Eggs, Wood-Yeast

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN

TWENTY-FIRST ARMY GROUP HEADQUARTERS (AP)—Some of Nazi Germany's ersatz food factories—producing such things as artificial eggs and yeast products made from wood—are being reopened in the British occupation zone.

This "phony food," surprisingly high in protein, will help supplement the German civilians' diet for what officials predict will be "the toughest winter in the country's history."

Col. R. R. Ware, military government economics expert, said because of bad weather 10 per cent of bread grains rotted in the fields and 20 per cent of fodder grains likewise was lost.

Wheat or some equivalent is being imported from the United States and Canada. "Nutritionally, there are only two areas which are causing anxiety—the Ruhr and Berlin," Ware said.

Plans for reopening ersatz food plants as well as synthetic rubber factories were disclosed by a senior officer. Eggs made from cattle blood and fish protein have "just as high a food value as chicken eggs, but the cost was high," the officer said. "American candy makers are especially interested in the German method of making chocolate which does not become discolored over a period of time."

"Another food feature was canned bread, which remained oven fresh for three to four years."

The Germans had made great strides in plastics. On the whole, their medicines were disappointing.

An amazing aspect of Germany's building construction industry was the country's capacity to produce cement. Millions of tons were used lavishly for colossal underground factories, submarine shelters and the like.

One of their biggest single enterprises was cementing up an entire valley for an aircraft factory.

First they filled the valley with dirt, then poured concrete on top five to 10 feet thick and let it harden. Then they dug out the dirt by the trainloads, erected huge supports and had an enormous concrete roof. The war ended before the huge factory was ready for operation.

U. S. Scientists Going to Jap A-Bomb Area

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27 (INS)

A special United States team of Army engineers and scientists was en route to Japan today to obtain an accurate report of the effect of the atomic bomb on the human body.

Two members of the small inner coterie of Army engineers and internationally famous scientists who developed the most formidable weapon in universal history said that at present they had no way of knowing the exact results of the Hiroshima and Nagasaki atomic bombings.

However, they "doubted the Japanese reports that those entering the bombed areas days after the raids were burned by radioactivity and gradually disintegrated internally."

"Elast and burn" were cited by the experts as the only two known effects of atomic bombing on the human being.

The heat of the unleashed atomic power would carry the radioactivity thousands of feet upward where it would be dispersed by air currents, they pointed out.

Tokyo claims that the entire Nagasaki and Hiroshima areas are contaminated were dubbed as 99 per cent propaganda designed to build up Allied pity abroad and Japanese morale at home.

Superforts Fly Supplies to PWs

GUAM, Aug. 27 (INS)—Nine B-29 Superforts that were bombing Japan less than two weeks ago flew a mercy mission today when they dropped food and medical supplies to Allied war prisoners interned near Wehsien on China's Shantung peninsula.

B-29's of the 73d Bombardment Wing based on Saipan carried out the mission and were led by Lt. Col. Neil Van Sickle of Minot, N. D.

A 10th Superfort, piloted by Maj. Frank Thomas of Pittsburgh, Pa., dropped leaflets on the prisoner of war camps two hours before the other B-29's arrived.

The leaflets told internees help was on the way and instructed them to be prepared.

And Bernadette Author Dead

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., Aug. 26 (INS) — Franz Werfel, 54, and Austrian author whose "Song of Bernadette" was made into the movie that skyrocketed Jennifer Jones to stardom and an Academy Award, was found dead at his desk in his Beverly Hills home.

He was afflicted with a heart ailment but during the past few weeks he had been in good spirits, friends said.

He was found by his wife, Alma Marie Schindler, who was the widow of the Austrian composer, Gustav Mahler.

Werfel had just completed what he considered his most significant work—"Star of the Unborn."

CHUNGKING, Aug. 27 (AP)—Maj. Gen. Patrick J. Hurley, U. S. Ambassador to China, left by plane today for Yenan to accompany Mao Tse-Tung and other Communist leaders back to Chungking for conferences with Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek.

Chiang had invited Mao to meet with him in an attempt to reach a peaceful settlement of differences between the national government and the North China Communists which have been threatening to plunge the nation into civil war.

Missouri Leads Fleet 25 Miles Off Tokyo

By AL DOPKING

WITH ADM. HALSEY, Sagami Bay, Japan, Aug. 27 (AP)—Led by Adm. Halsey's flagship, the battleship Missouri, an impressive spearhead of Third Fleet warships triumphantly entered Japan's Sagami Bay today and dropped anchor 25 miles off Tokyo.

Twelve hundred carrier planes roared overhead as great American and British battleships anchored two miles offshore under the shadow of towering Fujiyama.

The battleship Iowa came to a stop directly behind the Missouri. Off to the left was the British battleship, Duke of York, Adm. Sir Bruce Fraser's flagship, which sank the German battleship Scharnhorst in 1943.

The victorious fleet was clearly visible to thousands of Japanese along the shore between Katase and Chigasaki.

American and British seamen, their faces and shirts moist with perspiration, lined the decks for their first good look at the clearly visible Japanese coastline.

The first units of Halsey's occupation force, under R. Adm. Oscar C. Badger, will enter Tokyo Bay tomorrow through 2½-mile wide Uraga Strait, lined with 116 major caliber guns.

Two hours before entering Sagami Bay, the Missouri took aboard the Japanese emissaries, headed by Capt. Yoshihiko Takasaki, staff officer of the Yokosuka base, and Capt. Inaho Otami, staff officer of the Tokyo naval department.

The Japanese reported progress made in minesweeping both Sagami and Tokyo bays and received instructions for preparations to be made for Thursday's landings at Yokosuka.

At least five battleships, including the Iowa and South Dakota, 11 cruisers, 26 destroyers and 69 other ships were among the forces entering the bay. Still offshore were 26 carriers, escort carriers and many other ships, which covered the entry by sea and air.

NATION MUST KEEP FAITH

MAJ. GEN. LEWIS B. HERSHEY, director of Selective Service, has confronted millions of American war veterans with the prospect of tragic disillusionment when they seek to return to their pre-war jobs after release from the armed forces.

Speaking before three hundred draft board officials here in Boston, last week, General Hershey said there is a widespread misconception among service men about their RIGHT to return to their former peacetime jobs.

This supposedly permanent and irrefutable right, he declared, actually "was passed, not for all time, but for what was thought to be a year's training period."

The "job guarantee" law, he said, is part of the Selective Service Act, and will EXPIRE when Congress officially declares an end to hostilities.

"Unless there is more legislation," General Hershey warned, "sections 8-A and 8-B (the provisions of the Selective Service Act concerning guaranteed job return) will be ABOLISHED AUTOMATICALLY when Congress terminates hostilities."

If this is a correct legal interpretation, it sets the stage for the most shameful and shocking BREAKING OF FAITH in the history of this or any other nation.

EVERY American serviceman has gone into the war with the definite understanding that he has the PROMISE of his government that the civilian job he left would be KEPT for him until his return.

The American people have had the same understanding, and have always pledged their own faith that the promise would be fulfilled.

Thousands of discharged veterans have already returned to their old jobs in fulfillment of it.

Employers have almost without exception lived up to it, not only because they supposed it was their legal obligation to do but because they knew it was a patriotic obligation.

BUT NOW MANY MORE THOUSANDS OF VETERANS, IF GENERAL HERSHEY IS RIGHT, ARE GOING TO BE LEFT HOLDING THE BAG—WITH THEIR OLD JOBS CLOSED TO THEM, AND TO STAND AT THE TAIL END OF THE LONG LINES FORMING FOR NEW JOBS.

General Hershey rightly anticipates that this is not going to be to the LIKING of either the veterans or the people.

"We probably will have some DIFFICULTY," he admitted, "because there is a question that some people will raise—of whether Congress made a CONTRACT with its veterans, and then changed it after we got the war won."

Indeed there IS going to be difficulty about it.

Congress DID make a contract with the veterans.

The American people did not take it lightly.

The veterans themselves have properly considered it a pledge of national FAITH. If it requires more legislation, as General Hershey says, to make America's promise good, then let there BE more legislation.

THE MAN who has offered his life for his country, and has seen many of his comrades GIVE their lives, has the first and best claim among all this nation's people to useful and fruitful, desirable and profitable employment.

Return to and security in the job he wants and is qualified for IS HIS INVOLUBLE RIGHT, however inadequate the present law may be.

The American Congress is under continuing and perpetual obligation to GIVE him that right, and the American people are permanently obligated and resolved to see that he GETS IT.

AYTOON.

ABOVE is the correct attitude to assume when the victim of what is technically known as a "brushoff." Life is too short for torch songs. The thing to do is cultivate a state of mind which will permit the joyous singing of "Oh, How I Laugh When I Think How I Cried About You." This comment is from our Horses & Women Bureau File No. 1786D... Six married men of New York City have organized a Horses & Women Club. The main object of this organization will be an attempt to improve women. For example, a campaign for handbag reform will be launched. Members of the N. Y. H. & W. Club will insist their wives use the strap type of bag so same will not be constantly misplaced. These husbands will also hold regular periods of handbag inspection. At this time wives will be compelled to open their handbags and the husbands will check on the neatness of the interior of said bags. These husbands will also demand that their wives keep only change in their change pocket of their handbags. This, of course, is to prevent the ladies from torturing conductors by excessive fumbling for carfare.

MEAN CROOKS—Did you read about that man in Chicago who confessed he had made a living for 48 years by robbing church poor boxes? Said he averaged $20 a day. Reminds that several years ago in New York a man was arrested for stealing candy from a baby. He snatched a lemon stick from the hand of a kiddie in the Bronx. Once in St. Louis a man was arrested for robbing the cup of a blind man.

BRIEFLY: The long name championship armed forces by a Navy man, Seaman Paul Apostolopoulo of St. Paul, Minn. Sherry Kelly, one of the belles of Baltimore, writes: "Why always play up the Irish men? Didn't Irish women ever do anything?" Well, Sherry, Lola Montez was born in Limerick, Ireland, and she was quite a career girl. We will print a list of outstanding Irish career girls like Maureen O'Sullivan in a later issue.

PASSING BY:—"Irish" Meusel. Once of McGraw's Giants. Now a cocktail bar maestro. A real New York young old-timer is one who remembers when "Spike" Shannon was "a n' d o w."

Victor Moore, composer of "The St. Louis Blues." This is still my favorite blues number. Ethel Waters sings it well, but not quite so well as Marion Harris did. Victor Moore, veteran comedian. Now 69 years old, he is busy getting ready for the coming theatrical season. Made his debut 52 years ago in "The Babes in the Wood" in Boston. First hit was playing part of Kid Burns in "Forty-Five Minutes from Broadway." Mr. Moore, who knows how to handle money carefully, is rated a millionaire.

QUERIES FROM CLIENTS:

Q—A college professor, experting on men, women and love, claims women are more sentimental than men. This is contrary to the expressed opinion of your Horses & Women experts. How about it? A—Women are more superficially sentimental than men. Way down deep the men are more sincerely sentimental. Women constantly crave reassurance as to the extent of a man's love. They also wish to be assured their charm, appeal, etc., are in good working order. So the ladies place emphasis on little gifts, observance of anniversaries, an excess use of terms of endearment, etc. In this way their reputation for being the more romantic sex has been achieved. A man is extremely sentimental in a sincere way about his love of his wife, his children and his home. He shows it, not by gushing terms of endearment and various other types of minor demonstrations, but by unselfishness, sacrifice and hard work.

BUSY RED-HEAD: A Baltimore subscriber describes herself as 29 years old, five feet, 10 inches tall and red haired. She says she has six children, all red haired and adds: In addition to doing all my cooking and housework, do my own laundry. We have 20 sheets and two dozen diapers to launder regularly. Do not do my house-keeping in three hours a day.

There he is again, Sir—hinting that it's too hot for that 20-mile march today!

WASHINGTON SCENE

By GEORGE DIXON

(Distributed by King Features Synd., Inc. Reproduction Prohibited)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27—I do not know what I would do without the Department of Agriculture's food and home notes. I suppose I would get by somehow but it would be a drear and empty world.

There is nothing like a food and home note to cheer you up when life seems black. One note and you feel better right away. Of course, there is always a danger of overdoing the dosage but I always say if a person wants to be a food and home hog the devil with him.

I have an array of such notes before me now. One describes how to make pectin pudding. I must confess this does not enthrall me because the way I feel about pectin pudding should only be whispered, and not in mixed company at that.

But the one that captivates me completely is:

"How to Take Off a Wet Bathing Suit." Until the Department of Agriculture came through with its enlightenment, I thought the only way to take off a bathing suit, either wet or dry, was simply to take it off, making sure of course that no one was peeking. But it seems there is more to it than that.

Says the department: "Most bathing suits today are made of rayon. Because rayon is weaker when wet, it is important to take off a wet bathing suit gently. Rayon dries slowly so a suit should be hung up to dry promptly after wearing—never left in a damp heap on the floor. If possible, hang it so there is little strain on the fabric. Drying over a double line helps to distribute the weight. If a suit has a heavy skirt, it may be best to lay it out flat to dry."

Or in the words of the Immortal Lewis Carroll:

"Be gentle with your bathing suit. Don't tug it when it squeezes. It only does it to annoy Because it knows it teases."

MISS MARION REID, who is a very poetic type, having once been voted the girl in her class most likely to choke on a sonnet, burst into the office the other day all agog. In her lily-white paw was an official-looking document.

"You have been wondering what has become of Archibald MacLeish since he resigned as Assistant Secretary of State," she bubbled. "Has it ever occurred to you he might be hiding out incognito in the Department of Commerce writing beautiful poems for Harper's Weekly?"

I told Miss Reid I had given it hardly a thought and asked why.

"I call your attention to the utterly radiant lines of Department of Commerce Release No. 8-225," she said. "Who in the world but that adorable Mr. MacLeish could have penned anything so breathlessly lovely as these?"

"They are exquisite, flowerlike," she added, hitching up her iambic pentameter. "If you ask me there is only one word to describe them."

"I'm asking you," I said, always the obliging asker. "What, Miss Reid, is the word?"

"Sublime."

With reverent hands, Miss Reid handed me the release. It had to do with 2000 pneumatic life rafts declared surplus by the Army and Navy which are now being offered for sale by the Hardware Division, Office of Surplus Property, of the department.

I agreed with Miss Reid that whoever composed the release has a soul that soars into the incandescent—or maybe I mean evanescent. Just read this next aloud and let your ears absorb its lulling beauty.

"While these life rafts were scientifically developed for global warfare, they're practical for playtime use... not only to save a life, as intended by the military, but to add healthful fun to holidays. Sportsmen will want them for duck blinds; fond parents of small fry will use them as lures to keep the kiddies out in the sun; and club members, campers, and vacationists anywhere where there's water will be soon paddling about in these natty little rafts."

The next two lines, to do them justice, must be set in poetic form. They represent the muse at its highest:

"They're not only fun to scud about in the deep blue,

But they're easy to handle, too."

The release in all its elegance, continues: Listen to this: "Easily transported from car, or club, or camp... complete with lightweight oars (or paddles), hand pumps and repair kit.

"Easily inflated... easily navigated. Even a child can operate this small model alone, even it is rugged enough to withstand abuse. Anchor it, and it will nestle on the surface of the sea like a graceful swan..."

Or like Henry Wallace!

Hollywood Today

By Louella O. Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 27—When Olivia De Havilland left Warners after a long legal battle, she swore she would never tie up with any studio again. Now she has done a little word-eating and signed with Paramount for three pictures.

A lady can change her mind, can't she? Livvy has already made two pictures on that lot—"The Well-Groomed Bride" and "Each to His Own"—but they don't count in the New Deal, which calls for three more.

IT MAY BE all off between Carole Landis and Horace Schmidlapp, but the tiff she had with her comp any—20th—was patched up. They had the proverbial putting spell when she walked off a picture to go to Reno for a divorce. At that time Carole told me she would marry Schmidlapp soon. But as love flew out the window her interest in her career revived and now the curvaceous belle is heading back to Hollywood for her top role in George Jessel's musical, "Girl in the Moon." Incidentally, her option was lifted for another year.

Carole Landis

GARY COOPER is returning to acting. At least that's what I hear. A legal complication came up on his deal with Bill Goetz at International—no battle, but some complication over which he had no control. So he is leaving International and is free lancing once again. I was unable to get in touch with Gary to verify it because he happens to be in New York. But it comes so straight I have no hesitation in printing it.

DIDN'T KNOW Lenore Ulric was in town until she called me. "What are you doing?" I asked. "I'm here to do an MGM picture," she said. And so she is. She'll have one of the top roles in Ralph Wheelright's "Time for Two." I'll say for Lenore she still has that marvelous speaking voice and what a following she had in the days when she was David Belasco's top star. Don't believe I missed an Ulric opening—I saw all of them from "Lulu Belle" on down, or up.

DOROTHY LAMOUR is hurt at Paramount. After nine years with that company, in which she made a lot of money for them, she was surprised at the alacrity with which they took her off salary when she told them she was expecting a baby. They tried to make up for it by offering to extend her contract, which she refused. Now I understand one of the big London companies is eager to get her, as well as one of our major companies here. Dottie, however, still has two more years on her Paramount contract, so I don't see how she can get out of it.

CHATTER IN HOLLYWOOD: Virginia Bruce can now be called one of Hollywood's most successful hostesses. She gave a party at her home the other night that that will long be remembered—the first party Virginia has given since the death of her husband, and J. Walter Rubin, two years ago. She seemed to have the knack of being everywhere at once and of seeing each guest personally. Her mother was on hand to help her. Reggie Gardner, just back from London, gave a toast to Virginia, which was responded to by the Danny Kaye's, Cesar Romero, Mrs. Walter Lang, Lady Mendil, Harry Crocker, Felix Ferry, Otto Preminger and some 150 others. Many people had to leave early because the next day was a work day.

CLAUDE RAINS, who went to England to make George Remick Shaw's "Caesar and Cleopatra," tells a very funny story about G. B. S. He said Shaw was on the set watching a scene being made in which Rains was supposed to say "Am I Julius Caesar or am I a wolf?" Rains explained to Shaw that this might be misunderstood in America because in this country "wolf" now means the two-footed—not the four-footed—animal. Shaw said nothing and his expression was "are you trying to tell me something?" Next day, however, the studio received a postcard saying "Change wolf to wild beast."

AT THE RKO convention it came to light that a Gallup Poll had been taken on movie titles and "A Very Remarkable Fellow," the title of Harriet Parsons' next picture, was among the first five in popularity. In other words, Mr. and Mrs. John Public like the name. Charles Koerner, head of the company, who leaves next month for

Boston American, Aug. 27—21

Europe to study conditions, told the convention that in "this town of rumors" there was sure to be talk he was leaving RKO. It isn't true. He is going to London on business. It's good news RKO and Charlie are not parting, for under his regime the studio has turned out the best pictures it has ever made.

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD COLLECTED AT RANDOM: The gorgeous Virginia Cherril, according to a London letter, is divorcing the Earl of Jersey. She was once wed to the popular Cary Grant; James Sweeney and Sylvia Farbanks are her constant companions in London. He is the brother of Robert Sweeney, once engaged to Barbara Hutton. Yes, it is all off between Sylvia and her titled husband; Lana Turner's doctors are worried over her condition. She has 21 more days of shooting at MGM and it is difficult to say whether she will be strong enough to return.

CHARLES KORVIN goes in to the hospital soon for a tonsillectomy; Steve Crane and Olga San Juan, the much-discussed Paramount actress, were a very, very attentive twosome at the Trocadero; Judy Garland and Vincent Minelli return from their honeymoon today; Alan Ladd and Sylvia Carroll are forgetting his studio troubles; Parkyakarkus' new song is called "I Hope Butter and Eggs are Here to Stay." Who doesn't? Medical supplies are needed badly in Hungary, and Victor Varocant and other Hungarians have been asked to send supplies to Lt. Col. McLane, chief medical officer of the Allied Control Commission for Hungary. He returns there September 1. The Rev. Mathias Lane in Los Angeles is accepting donations.

Star Shine

By Sidney Skolsky

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 27—Jeanne Crain is a comer, no matter how you look at her. After she made her initial picture, "Home in Indiana," the executives said, "We've got a comer in her. She is another Janet Gaynor."

And now, surprisingly enough, she has definitely arrived in the musical version of "State Fair," in which she plays the role that Janet Gaynor did in the original movie, "State Fair."

She is a potential sweater girl who hides her talents in billowy blouses and peasant dresses. A director asked her to remove her false eyelashes. She told him she couldn't take them off because they were her own. That's how she is—she owns what she displays.

SHE HAILS from Barstow, Cal., and the date is May 25, 1925. Her movie name is her genuine name. She is five feet four and a half inches tall and weighs 114 pounds. She has reddish brown hair, and what she describes as "changeable eyes." That is their color varies according to the color of the dress she is wearing.

When she was discovered for pictures by Ivan Kaha, the talent scout, she reversed the usual procedure. Kaha went to a play put on by members of a dramatic school to find some talent for pictures. He didn't see anyone he liked on the stage, but during intermission he saw a girl in the audience who looked like a good screen bet. That's how she got her opportunity.

She graduated from Inglewood High School and enrolled at U. C. L. A., but had to withdraw because her studio work kept her too busy to attend classes. Before coming to pictures, she worked as a model for top commercial photographers. She's been a cover girl for national magazines.

SHE'S surprised every time she sees herself on the screen, because she looks so different from the way she felt when she was in front of the camera. She is surprised that she looks like herself, for after getting a thorough going over by the make-up and wardrobe departments, she expects to look like Hedy Lamarr. She comes on the set knowing her lines and ready to work.

She loves movies and goes at least three times a week. If she can learn anything from a picture, she goes to it again and again. Her favorite actress is Ingrid Bergman.

She never goes to beauty parlors, and does her own hair and nails. She has no beauty secrets.

She gets crushes. Her present crush is Gregory Peck. She believes he's wonderful and would like to be in a picture with him. She also likes the singing of Dick Haymes, who sings to her in "State Fair."

She has a couple of boy friends. There is Lou McAllister, who is in the Army, and Paul Brooks, actor and owner of an aircraft factory. She goes for and with both of them.

Boston After Dark

MONDAY MORNING MUSINGS: If Mr. Hearst visited the press room, as he did frequently when making casual tours of his newspaper properties, the ink-smearing boys of the nether regions of this plant could have been no more astonished than were the executives and staff of the White House mail room the other day when President Truman decided to drop in for a visit . . . William "Bill" Simmons, who has bossed the mail department of the White House under five Presidents—Roosevelt's tenure making it the equivalent of service under eight Chief Executives—never before had met, face to face in his department—as many as one.

MR. TRUMAN—smiling and fraternal—went through the busy mail department while General MacArthur was working out plans for the occupation of Japan.

PRESIDENT TRUMAN must have taken note of the surprise his visit occasioned . . . He chatted with several of the White House mail staff . . . "I'm not here checking up," was the burden of his message . . . "Just a friendly call!" . . . The staff went along with his business, and soon President Truman left for the upper stories of the Executive Mansion . . . (Satisfied, apparently, that all was well.)

BUT MR. SIMMONS will tell you that since Harding (including Coolidge, Hoover and Roosevelt) no President of the United States ever had made—inssofar as he was acquainted with the facts—a visit to the busiest department in the White House.

IN THE thousands of letters received each day, comes the opinion of a great Republic on vital issues . . . The mail is assayed most carefully by a trained staff and in screened expertly for further disposition . . . The President reads three letters, approximately, out of a thousand . . . They generally are the most articulate of the lot . . . One will state the position of its author in the affirmative of a dispatch, another the negative, and the third probably will represent a neutral attitude.

OUT OF THE mass of mail discussing so baffling a problem as the use of the atomic bomb for instance, each letter will have been read and interpreted for its basic opinion . . . When the "sample" letters are sent "upstairs," a memorandum will be attached with a score . . . Of the thousands of letters—let us say—will have approved the use of the A-bomb against Japan . . . More than 200 will have denounced the use of the terrible weapon . . . The residuary 40 letters will reflect a passive (and generally encouraging) tone of "let us wait for history to decide" . . . But President Truman is kept in touch daily with the thoughts of his countrymen . . . These thoughts are summarized, but the net effect is one of a specific verdict on all questions.

IT SHOULD BE NOTED here, we think, that former Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau, a historic figure in the career of America, made a point of paying unexpected visits to the various branches of the department he controlled so long and efficiently . . . But Henry the Morgue (to give him Roosevelt's pet name) lacked the "common touch" which President Truman seems so effectively to possess . . . Morgenthau was wont to pay unanticipated visits late at night (after midnight frequently) to such departments as the Internal Revenue and Narcotics.

IF THE GUARDS in these branches did not seem as alert as Mr. Morgenthau would have them be, there would be an order of dismissal issued the next morning . . . Henry the Morgue—toward the end—was so crutchy and demanding that the Treasury Department, one of the most important in the government, was in a state of nervous tension . . . Morale was low indeed . . . The strain of his high office had taken its toll of Mr. Morgenthau, one of the great secretaries of the treasury as history—many think—will show . . . It was a relief to all Washington, including Mr. Morgenthau himself, we hear, when his resignation was presented and accepted.

WACs Going, Too

MANILA (INS)—A detachment of 200 WACs is scheduled to go to Tokyo soon after that city is secured, which is expected to be about two weeks after Gen. Douglas MacArthur lands on Japanese soil. It was reported that there is some competition among the "lady soldiers" for the Tokyo assignments.

Serve Potatoes Often; Some Choice Recipes

By MARTHA LEE

HAVE YOU noticed how abundant potatoes are in the market today? This is some of the intermediate crop that you see. They're small, sweet in flavor and of generally good quality.

Potatoes can be served in so many ways that in the plentiful season they can be served twice a day just as well as once.

At this point we can't resist reminding you how "good for you" potatoes are, too, for they contain plenty of nutrients such as protein, and several minerals and vitamins. When boiling them, leave the jackets on and add to the mineral content of the dish, for potatoes carry valuable minerals in their jackets. Don't soak them before cooking. Long soaking, cutting into small pieces before cooking, and holding potatoes more than half an hour before serving increase the loss of vitamin C, of which they are a good source.

Let us renew our acquaintance with some old favorites while we introduce some newcomers:

POTATO PANCAKES

1 lb. raw potatoes
1 tsp. grated onion
2 eggs, unbeaten
2 tbsp. flour
1½ tsp. salt

Wash and peel the raw potatoes; then grate them on a fine grater. Quickly stir in onion, eggs, flour, and seasonings. Drop from a tablespoon into ¼-inch hot fat in a skillet, spreading each cake with the back of a spoon until it is thin. Saute to a deep golden brown on both sides. Drain on paper toweling. Makes 8 to 10 pancakes. If desired, diced cooked bacon may be added to pancake mixture before cooking. The pancakes must be cooked immediately after preparing, as the potato mixture darkens if it stands.

CHEESED NEW POTATOES

2 lbs. medium new potatoes
¾ tsp. salt
Speck pepper
1½ cups grated American cheese
¾ cup light cream or top milk
Cook potatoes and drain. Peel and place in a shallow baking dish. Sprinkle with the salt and pepper, and then the grated cheese. Pour the cream over all. Bake in a moderate oven of 325 deg. F. for 25 to 30 minutes, or until thoroughly hot and lightly browned. Makes 6 servings.

POTATO FLUFFS

4 cups mashed potatoes
2 tsp. salt
Speck pepper
3 tbsp. flour
1 tsp. baking powder
1 tsp. chopped parsley
2 eggs, separated
¼ cup milk
Speck pepper
Melted fat or salad oil

Add to mashed potatoes salt, pepper, flour, baking powder, parsley, beaten egg yolk and milk and beat until mixture is light and fluffy. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Drop by rounding tablespoonfuls into deep fat oil, which has been heated to 375 deg. F. or hot enough to brown a cube of day-old bread in 60 seconds. Fry until golden brown on all sides, about 1 minute. Drain on crumpled paper toweling and serve very hot. Makes 15 servings.

SCALLOPED POTATOES

4 cups thinly-sliced potatoes
1 cup thinly-sliced onions
2 cups medium white sauce
Cook potatoes in boiling, salted water. Slice thin and arrange in alternate layers with onions in a greased 1½-quart casserole. Pour white sauce over, and bake, uncovered, in moderate oven of 350 deg. F. for about 30 minutes. Makes 4 servings. If desired, 3 tbsp. minced onion can be sauteed in the butter before making the white sauce.

Beauty

LEG PREPPING for the heralded return of nylons entails a sleek pair of hair-free gams... comparable to the lovely limbs of Warner Star Martha Vickers... if those diaphanous hosiery lovelies are to be justified, And an odorless and painless way to remove superfluous hairiness is a new cream cosmetic depilatory that can be used as safely on the arms, under the arms, and on the upper lip as on eye-catching pedal extremities.

Notes With Gifts

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:
1—In acknowledging gifts received before the marriage takes place, how should I sign the thank-you notes?

2—My full name (let's say) is Bertha Smith Matthews. After I am married do I retain the middle name of Smith or my maiden surname of Matthews?

3—Is it permissible for the bride's mother to wear a black dress at the marriage ceremony?

A. E.
1—Your thank-you notes to your intimate friends are signed with your first name only; when more than your first name is needed for identification, or notes to people who don't call you by your first name, sign your full name. Don't sign both your name and your fiancé's... instead, include his thanks in the body of your note: "Tom and I are delighted with the beautiful clock you sent us, and are happily planning where we will place it in our new home."

2—Customarily a married woman drops her middle name and retains her maiden surname in her married name... Bertha Matthews Robbins.
3—It is definitely not appropriate for the bride's mother to wear a black dress at the ceremony. Even if she is in mourning, she must consider her position as hostess of the occasion, and should not be so lugubriously dressed as to indicate sorrow. For this one occasion she could properly and suitably wear a becoming shade of gray.

The Correct Thing

By ELINOR AMES

DON'T KNOW WHAT TO WRITE? A thank-you letter for a gift should be brief, should mention the article received and contain an expression of thanks.

Aware of Beauty

Everywhere the beauty of character is apparent... If you will train yourself to look for it, to become aware of it, to appreciate it. Cultivate, as the Bible urges, "the seeing eye, the hearing ear... the understanding heart."

The coat has large patch pockets... lined with red wool... loose, full sleeves, tapering at the wrist... and a wide belt studded with gold nail heads... a modern Red Riding Hood with plenty of fashion zip.—R. Hair-Free Legs Needed

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE, Beauty and Fashion Editor

NEXT TO KNOWING the war is over and her honey will soon be home safe and sound... the sweetest music to any girl's ears was governmental assurance that her graceful gams are soon to be encased in the flattering sheerness of nylons... remember?

"Nylons are coming back... nylons are coming back"... it could have been the musical theme of some imaginative and gorgeously creative choreography... it was that receptive to the ears. While we, too, are patiently awaiting the heralded return of those diaphanous lovelies... we're thinking, primarily, today of the legs that will go into them.

AVOID DANGEROUS CUTS

Naturally, they should be smooth and hirsute-free... or did you know it all along? If you did, you're one of the beauty-conscious gals. Imagine slipping those sheers over limbs that have sword-like black stubble peeping its ugly head through. Hair-free leg grooming is an all-year-round necessity... Not only a summertime pastime. But, now, with nylons a certain reality of the not-too-distant future... it is an absolute requisite if those hosiery highlights are to be glamorously justified.

So, if you're going to balance yourself on a pair of stunning, nylon-covered limbs... remember every last errand strand of unwanted hair must be removed... and it can be by a pleasantly scented as well as softly spreadable in texture show-white cream that leaves no hideous stubble... that leaves no scars of battle... no dangerous cuts and nicks on your skin so often caused by the hazardous razor... If you're old-fashioned enough to use that method.

TAKES ONLY FEW MINUTES

This cream hair removed disintegrates the hair stalk down into the pores below the skin "level"... thereby doing a flawless job... and the entire procedure takes only about six to 15 minutes. Simply spread the cream over the skin evenly so that the hair is completely covered... say about one-sixth of an inch thick. Do NOT rub the cream in... but allow it to remain on for the designated time... depending upon the growth of the superfluous hair you desire to wash away. Then wash or wipe the cream away with a damp cloth... and watch the magical removal of hair—and how smooth and clean your skin becomes.

For the name of this amazing new-type cream cosmetic depilatory, phone the Beauty Dept., Liberty 4000, or write me, care of the Boston Evening American, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Wider and Handsomer Turbans

By BETTINA BEDWELL

MILLINERY FASHIONS this coming fall are going to be a super production. The good little hat that got by is missing, and in its place are higher, wider and handsomer hats. They have weight and importance, and they don't stint when it comes to trappings. Turbans that belong in the new style have these qualities in abundance.

What one of the newest turbans by one of our greatest millinery designers, Sally Victor, looks like can be seen in Miss Dulin's sketch. It is, you'll agree, higher, wider, and handsomer than former turbans. Sally makes it of shimmering satin, in glowing color, and it covers all of the head except the face, which it frames enchantingly.

For dress-up wear this is one of the fashion firsts.

Canning Demonstration On Common

The second demonstration of proper methods of home canning postponed Aug. 15 with the joyous news of Japan's surrender will be given by Mrs. Ruth Gould Shufelt, home demonstration agent of the Norfolk County Agricultural School, on Boston Common Wednesday at 2 p. m. and 7 p. m.

The 7945 commercial fruit and vegetable pack will be 25 per cent less than last year, according to Mrs. Shufelt, and the only way to obtain a sufficient home supply is by canning at home.

She explained that five pounds of sugar per person is still the quota, although it is not always essential that sugar be used for canning fruits.

Mrs. Shufelt first gave canning exhibitions two years ago at the Boston Record-American and Sunday Advertiser garden on the Common.

Her first demonstration this year was widely attended on the afternoon and evening of Aug. 1, with products grown under the supervision of Foster H. Weiss, head of the vegetable gardening department at Norfolk County Agricultural School.

Jazzless Japan

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 27 (AP)—Japan will welcome American occupation forces—but American jazz is a bit too much.

Despite its popularity in pre-war Japan, it will henceforth be supplanted by the music of "wholesome" bands, Demos Agency said today in a dispatch quoting the newspapers Yomiuri Hoshi.

Still, "working people must laugh," Demos' broadcast acknowledged—so Tokyo Metropolitan police are doing their best to rebuild and reopen the city's movie theaters. Only 26 of 252 escaped destruction by American bombs.

Why, Mr. Churchill! Have You Forgotten Us So Soon?

By AUSTEN LAKE

IT'S THE SAME OLD, SOUR REFRAIN! It's rebuke instead of gratitude from our foreign war colleagues as Uncle Sam turns off his lend-lease money spigots and the golden flow dwindles from a torrent to a trickle and a drip. So Mr. Churchill calls us "harsh" and "rough" and reminds us that England "held the fort while America prepared its munitions." And Prime Minister Attlee, deep in his adventure into Socialism, laments that "it puts us in a serious financial position." We, too, Mr. Attlee!

We have heard that song before! New words to old music!

I dislike to remind England of a morbid memory. Yet she seems to have short recollection for past benefits! So I will paint the picture of London as I saw it during the 1940-41 Blitz when she was a beleaguered, frightened and lonely nation in a hemisphere of voracious wolves. She had lost most of her arms on the beach at Dunkirk. Hitler's hordes were marshalled across the channel. And every English eye was turned prayerfully toward America which, having been badly burned once, held itself aloof from Europe's age-old animosities, border jealousies, land-greeds and centuries of re-occurent wars. So I trust Mr. Churchill will agree that the fort which England held was the same citadel it manned through the centuries. Only this time she was in a very tight spot.

They Loved Us Dearly Then!

I HAD SAILED WITH A CANADIAN troop convoy from Halifax, where departure was delayed while stevedores changed the original cargoes to 500,000 U. S. rifles and ammunition, secretly furnished from American arsenals. Britain needed those rifles desperately for her home-guardians, whom I saw on every highway preparing fields of fire for Nazi invasion. It was a courageous, splendid moment in English history and I do not attempt to detract one iota from English heroism except to say that America supplied some of the munitions with which to hold that fort.

Those were morbid days. Messrs. Churchill and Attlee, when many times I was stopped in the streets of Piccadilly, Oxford Circus, and Hyde Park by Englishmen who asked anxiously did I think America "would join in." And then that great day when the London dailies printed black headlines about the "lend-lease" act and every Englishman smiled for the first time in many months.

Americans suddenly became popular people and I remember how an austere, elderly lady hugged me in the public foyer of the Savoy Hotel. Just as a few years later we Americans were hugged by grateful French in the faubourgs of Le Mans, Paris and Verdun. They loved us like brothers—then!

But we're not so popular now! Because England's and France's ultra-nationalistic press has never informed their people of the massive lend-lease supplies we furnished free and gratis. Their impression, due somewhat to stupid American official silence, is that they gave away more in that line than they received. They weren't told, as matters of British and French policy.

Yet America furnished Britain 29 billions out of 41.2 billions in lend-lease goods. And the total of reverse lend-lease from ALL our allies was only 5.5 billions, which puts American taxpayers out of pocket 35.7 billions. It's very vulgar and uncouth of me to mention these facts, but we also financed such incidental items as the two billion dollar atomic bomb in the end America spent the astronomical sum of 300 billions, which makes the debt of each U. S. man, woman and child exactly $2272. That makes the writer's individual debt in his four-person family $9088 and I haven't got that kind of scratch.

So Now They Don't Love Us Any More!

SO YOU SEE, MR. CHURCHILL, when you call us "harsh" and "rough" because we can't scrape the bottom of our barrel and go on pawning our life insurance to give you more free supplies, it contributes nothing to the cause of international amity or mutual love 'twixt you and I. I suggest you rise in Parliament and recite facts, figures and recollections as I give them here!

We Americans showered down very cheerfully, just as Englishmen did. We knew that our soldiers, who formed nearly three-quarters of the combat forces which licked Germany and Japan, were sacrificing their blood and lives in proportion as their homelands shed their wealth. It made very painful going for all of us who, like Englishmen, bought freely of war bonds, subscribed to relief agencies, paid ballooning taxes and met inflated living costs amid scarcity.

You, Mr. Churchill and Mr. Attlee, are well aware of that! But the average Englishman and Frenchman knows only what he reads in the papers—and his papers systematically refrained from giving us credit. They are good Joes and Jeans, these Britishers and French—when they're told the truth. But lately I saw the same bitter reproof in their eyes as I saw it after the last war when they were led to believe that every American owned a private gold mine in his backyard where he dug spending nuggets as he needed quick funds. He visualized each American as a Croesus-rich spend-thrift, which our American tourist population never took any pains to correct.

May I remind Englishmen that we Americans have our family budget problems and expense worries and bank account tribulations, like everybody the world over—especially since we not only financed our own end of a two-ocean war, but much of the Allied nations' as well. The old cow's milked pretty dry.

So, Mr. Churchill, when you call us "harsh" and "rough" for drying the lend-lease fountain to meet our own postwar puzzles, including 11,000,000 returning soldiers, the critical reconversion period and our top-heavy tax burden, it is the same sour refrain which Europe sang after the first world war when we loaned it $11,279,000,000, not inclusive of $1,231,000,000 interest, of which England got $4,426,000,000, and never paid back a tinker's farthing. So forgive my tactlessness in mentioning these crude monetary matters. I leave it to Messrs. Churchill and Attlee to decide which of us is more "harsh" and "rough" in matters of generosity and gratitude, you or we?

Amazing Day for Three, La Forest, Ferriss, Lazor

By HUCK FINNEGAN

Ty La Forest, Dave Ferriss and the rest of the Red Sox left today for a tour of New York and Philadelphia but the melody of their work in Sunday's twin victories over the A's at Fenway will linger until the club returns for a Labor Day double-header with the Senators.

Did ever a rookie break in more impressively in front of the home town fans than Dorchester's La Forest. And did ever a rookie win his own game more melodramatically than Ferriss?

La Forest hit his first major league homer in the ninth inning of the opener to tie the score at 3-all. It was down the right field line and was fair by only a few feet. Ferriss rapped a double off the left field wall in the 10th to score Metkovich with the winning run.

"Meet the Mayor of Dorchester," beamed Ferriss as La Forest changed shirts between games. They were a happy pair as they gamboled in front of their lockers.

"I'll fool 'em next game," prophesied La Forest. "If I get my pitch high inside I'll pull it over the left field wall, and if Peck (right fielder) continues to play me behind second base, I'll blast one over his head."

He wasn't kidding. In the sixth inning of the nightcap he got his high inside pitch and lofted it over the left field wall. That gave Otis Clark a 3-2 lead but the A's, aided by errors, came on to tie in the eighth and chase Clark from the box.

In the Sox eighth Lake walked with one out. And LaForest, true to his word, blasted one of Flores' pitches over Peck's head for a double to score Lake with the winning run.

"Meet the Governor of Dorchester," shouted the jubilant Ferriss after the game. LaForest was going up the ladder with celerity. "Ties my season's record," LaForest admitted. "I hit only two homers at Louisville before I joined the Sox, and here I get two in one day. Whoopee! I told you (Ferriss) when you left us in Toledo I'd be up to help you win some."

Joe Dugan, his discoverer, was there to greet him. Red Barrett shook his head in amazement. "Never in my life did I see it happen before," he remarked. "Usually a fellow's so nervous his first day in the home town he doesn't do anything right."

The boys were walking on air again. The sorry road trip was a thing to be forgotten. Looks as if they've pulled themselves together at last.

Ferriss, weak as a kitten after his 4-3 victory, will visit a doctor in New York Tuesday. . . . Hefflin will open against the Yanks on that day. . . . Siebert's home run was the only hit off Clark until the seventh. With two out, errors by Lake and Lazor put the smart right-hander in the soup. Vic Johnson relieved him and got credit for the win. Looks as if Clark has inherited Hefflin's hard luck piece.

La Forest got five hits in seven trips for the day, two homers and a double included. It was the best day he's had since joining the club. His Scarlet and White rooters were there en masse and cheered him at every turn. "I wasn't half so nervous as I was the day I made my debut in Washington," said La Forest, who will become a father for the second time within a few days.

Ferriss' record is now 20-6. He's the first 20-game Sox pitcher since Hughson in '42. Lazor helped Ferriss immeasurably in the 10th with circus catches of McGhee and Kell. He's the most improved outfielder on the club.

Wade Resigns 'Gansett Post; Heads for Coast

By JACK CONWAY

HORACE WADE, who has contributed so much to New England racing, has resigned as Assistant Racing Secretary and announcer, at Narragansett Park. Wade sent his resignation to President James E. Dooley following the completion of his duties as presiding steward at the Marshfield Fair.

Wade also notified Ty Shea, Racing Secretary at the Rhode Island track, of his decision.

Horace Wade

Wade told this writer he will leave for California tomorrow. He will stop off at Detroit en route to the Coast to check up on his horses, Bring Me Home, Believe, Lasting Peace and several others. Wade and Charley Martin, Attleboro newspaper editor and publisher, own this stable. The Wade-Martin horses will later be shipped to Hollywood Park, Englewood, Cal. where they will race for the rich purses being offered by the management of the Coast track.

Wade will go to Florida in December as vice president of Gulfstream. The owners of the Florida track recently visited with Wade in Boston and discussed plans for the Florida season.

Wade is best known to Narragansett Park fans for his expert descriptions of the running of the races. In the mornings, however, he was busy in the Racing Secretary's office securing entries for the following day. He was a vital cog in the proper running of that office.

Leading Turf Writer

IN ADDITION to a thorough knowledge of every department of racing, Wade is also one of the most gifted turf writers in the United States. His colorful and interesting stories have appeared in the Green Sports Special of the Boston American. Wade will continue to write for this edition. His next article will be from Hollywood Park.

Wade has also been assistant to Frank Ryan in the public relations department at Suffolk Downs.

Ryan and Wade have had a pleasant association and it is believed that Horace will return to the East Boston track next season unless his racing stable expands to a point that it will require all of his attention.

New England racing would benefit if there were more people like Horace Wade and Charley Martin active in it. Wade and Martin both have a great love for racing, and they have done much to build up interest in the sport.

The Wade-Martin horses are always fit when they go to the post. The fact the horses almost always finish in the money is proof of this fact.

Stable Worth $150,000

The Wade-Martin stable is worth $150,000. Bring Me Home recently won a $10,000 handicap at the Fair Grounds in Detroit, while Believe finished first in a $5000 handicap.

Lasting Peace, who as a yearling was named after a poll taken by readers of this newspaper, won her first race at Detroit recently.

Lasting Peace finished second in a race on last Friday. This three-year-old has scored many seconds and thirds.

Narragansett Park and the entire New England racing picture will suffer with Wade heading for Hollywood. It is hoped that Horace will later be able to adjust his busy schedule so that he at least can race his horses here.

Up and Up was one of the first horses Wade raced in New England. Horace had gone on from there to become half owner of one of the country's most progressive racing stables. At the recent yearling sales Wade and Martin purchased a yearling for $6,000 and dreamed of new turf conquests.

It is likely that "Babe" Rubenstein, announcer at Rockingham Park and at Suffolk Downs, will be named to fill the same post at Narragansett Park.

It is not known yet who will take over Wade's former duties in the Secretary's office. His successor will have to be a top man to equal Wade's standard of efficiency.

Holdout Zimmerman Takes Giants' Terms

NEW YORK, Aug. 27 (AP)—Roy Zimmerman, slugging first baseman purchased by the New York Giants from Newark two weeks ago for a reported $25,000 and the optioning of Phil Weintraub to the Bears, has ended his holdout siege and agreed to terms, it was announced by Giants Secretary Eddie Brannick last night.

Norfolk Offers 4-Ball Tourney

By BILL GRIMES

Although it is not listed on the latest release from the office of the Massachusetts Golf Association, the third annual Norfolk Golf Club four ball invitation will be staged, as usual, this week end, Saturday, Sunday and Labor Day.

Two years ago, when the royal and ancient game was at low ebb, Daniel J. Daley, then president, convinced his fellow members that Norfolk should branch out into the four ball invitation field. Daley, who was one of the best all-around athletes ever developed at Brookline High School, is a go-getter and the first four ball invitation was over-subscribed by twelve teams. A year ago, it was the same story, with 32 top teams in competition for an array of valuable, as well as, appropriate prizes.

Ten days before the third annual, the Norfolk quota was filled and the pairings were drawn out in fact, there were enough entries to increase the field to 64 teams but Pres. F. F. Eggelston and Daley, who is now chairman of the golf committee, wisely legislated against such a move, due to the fact that Norfolk is a nine hole course and the congestion would defeat the purpose of the event.

Among the teams entered are Jesse P. Guilford and Jack Cosgrove, Woodland; Johnny Chew, Bear Hill, and Frank Caran, Salem; Larry Brien and O. Wilbur Pawtucket; Stan Neptune and Arthur Murphy, South Shore; Dan Daley, Benny Benson, Woodland; Hollis Crammer and J. Donahue, Blue Hill; Owen Dooley and Fred Callahan, Commonwealth; "Bun" McCarthy and Mike Kearney, Norfolk; Hugo Separini and Tom Slamin, Woodland; D. D. Sullivan, Norfolk, and Bill Baxter, Wollaston, and Henry Tivlin and Frank Anino, Woodland.

The opening round will be played Saturday afternoon and there will be two rounds on Sunday at Labor Day.

Day for Holmes Is Richly Deserved

For four years, Tommy Holmes has been the most popular player on the Braves' roster.

Unlike most Brooklynites, with baseball talent, Holmes cast his lot with the Yankees, instead of the Dodgers. He was a .300 hitter every year he was in the Yankee chain. But Joe McCarthy demanded pull hitters with plenty of power, such as DiMaggio, Keller, Selkirk and Henrich. So, Tommy was put on the market and sold to the Braves for $30,000.

Holmes reported to Casey Stengel at Sanford, Fla., in the spring of 1942. Realizing that his inability to "pull" had cost him his berth with the Yankees, Holmes altered his style when he joined the Braves. Stengel taught him how to "break his wrists." He hit for .278 and .270 during his first two seasons with the Braves. But since he mastered the "pull," Tommy hit .309 in '44 and has an excellent chance of topping all National League hitters this season.

Since early in the season, Tommy has been a box office attraction not only at Braves Field but in all National League cities. Braves haven't drawn as well either at home or on the road in years, as they have this season. And, Holmes is the answer.

Tommy takes his baseball seriously. He is not a prima donna, either on or off the field. He is the idol of the fans and highly respected by his fellow players.

The New England fans will honor Holmes next Sunday at Braves Field. It will be Tommy Holmes Day, during which the Braves and Phillies will play a double header.

Manager Ben Chapman has agreed to pitch two Boston favorites, Jimmy Foxx and Hugh Mulcahy.

General Manager John J. Quinn reports that the donations are pouring into Braves Field. Fans who desire to make contributions should make checks payable to "Holmes Day Committee" and mail them to Braves Field.

British Open Nelson's Goal

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Aug. 27 (AP)—Byron Nelson possessed the most fabulous collection of tournament victories in all golf history today—but he said he wanted more.

"I want to be satisfied until I win the British Open," the umbrella man from Toledo asserted. Nelson, who captured the Knoxville Open yesterday for his 15th major victory of the year, said he hoped to get a shot at the title in 1946.

The British Open was suspended during the war but a revival next year has been predicted. The Toledo stroking master already has won every big event this side of the Atlantic—the U.S. Open, the Canadian Open, the P. G. A. twice and the Masters twice.

But even more amazing has been his unparalleled winning streak this year—15 major tournament victories in 20 starts.

The former Texas caddy ran off and left the boys in the 72-hole Knoxville Open, finishing with a score of 276, 10 strokes better than his closest challenger.

Barbara Donahay, Mullane Are Stars

By MIKE GILLOOLY

Just let them pick their own weapons and they're just about unbeatable! Who? Why, Barbara Donahay of Winchester and Chief Specialist Ray Mullane, U. S. Navy! In What? In swimming and if you want evidence just consult any one of the 5000 fans who lined the shores at Carson Beach, South Boston, yesterday afternoon for the Record-American-Sunday-Advertiser's Boston Park Dept. Championship meet.

Miss Donahay and Sailor Mullane paddled their way to double victories in freestyle events to steal individual honors as the Wansuck Boys' Club of Providence, R. I., with five firsts, grabbed team laurels.

The Winchester mermaid sent the program off to a flying start when she stroked her way—using a crawl—to the New England AAAU 100-meter freestyle crown. For her winning efforts, she carried off the Mayor John E. Kerrigan trophy. The water had hardly cooled from her torrid propulsions when she was back to paddle her way to another title, the Mass. State 100-meter freestyle.

Mullane just refuses to be classified as a sprinter or long distance man. His stellar victory in the NEAAA 1000-mile earlier this season had convinced fans that he was best over the route. But he proved in this meet that he could knock off triumphs in dashes just as impressively.

He dominated the going throughout the New England AAAU 440-yards freestyle and then completed his slam in the 100-meters freestyle, open. Mullane was awarded the Boston Park Department trophy by Supervisor Bob Casick for his 440 victory. Wansuck's five winning events included the National Junior AAU 220-yard freestyle which found Joe Prata slipping through to the front ahead of Matt Loko, Olneyville Boys' Club, and Bill Wentworth, South Boston Boys' Club. Other Wansuck winners were Marion Senora in the NEAAA 100-meter backstroke; Jean Senior in the 100-meters breaststroke; Ed Nesta, in the NEAAA 100-meters backstroke; and Kerry Donovan in the 50-meters freestyle for 12-13 years olds.

The kids had quite an afternoon for themselves. There were five events for boys and girls ranging in ages from 10 to 15 and, for the most part, graduates of the Record-American-Sunday Advertiser Learn To Swim program. From the city ranks alone, there were close to 150 youngsters entered by Park Com. William P. Long.

Ensign Howard Kiefer, U. S. Navy and a world's title holder of swimming records, showed them how to become champions with a half hour exhibition. This feature and the music of the Roxbury Post, 44, American Legion, spiced the meet to the satisfaction of all.

Flames Sweep Lucky Enterprise Deck —Following an attack by a Jap suicide plane on the U. S. S. aircraft carrier Enterprise, during the Okinawa campaign on May 14, 1945, flames and smoke rise high over her decks while firefighting crew men bring the fire under control. A half hour later the blaze had been completely extinguished and planes were operating off the carrier which has been reported by Tokyo Radio to have been sunk on six different occasions.
